Guadalcanal Airfield And Base Blasted By Enemy Warships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Japanese landed heavy reinforcements on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons early today, and indications tonight were that a major battle was impending, if not actually begun, between the strengthened enemy and the Marines spearheading the American offensive in the southwest Pacific.

Announcement of the enemy landings was made by the Navy pepartment tonight in a special communique based on reports received up to 7:30 p. m., eastern they occurred.

Moreover, the Japanese activities of themselves contained grim new significance not hereto-fore attached to their movements in the southwest Pacific archipelago.

So far as has been announced they have not heretofore succeeded in actually bombarding the airfield and main installations in the American portion of the Island, although there have been sporadic attempts to do so by submarines and occasional destroyers.

Covered by Navy. Another fact which the munique made clear was that the troops landed this morning came from transports covered by naval units which undoubtedly meant the Japanese got not only men but also artillery and supplies ashore. Lack of artillery is reported to have been one of their main weak-

Some previous landings had been made from transports, frequently against American aerial opposition. But most of the men sent ashore by the enemy in the two months since the Marines invaded the Solomons had been landed in small groups from barges and similar light craft.

Officials of the Newspapers' scrap drive, interested first and last in getting in as much scrap as possible, did not press the issue. The bell will be removed from its persh of isolation as the second of the seco from its perch of isolation 85 feet above the ground in the next few days. It will be placed on a truck and hauled through the streets to remind Atlantans to get out 40.-000 pounds of scrap in its place, according to present plans.

The bell's history goes back to 1867, when it was bought with proceeds from a fair and presented to the fire department. It was named in honor of Augusta Hill, who was selected by popular ballot. The bell has tolled the passing of many prominent Atlantans and Georgians, and signaled the burning of many landmarks.

City officials said the bell could not be given to the scrap heap without authority from council.

Mayor Hartsfield, who had said he thought it would be all right to scrap the bell and repeated that statement, added:

"It's a fine thing that America has to scrap her relics while a bunch of hoodlums are running around in jalopies burning up gasoline and tires. Let's send the jalopies to the scrap and all the other scrap buried in the woods and on the farms. Then if we have to scrap relics, we'll scrap them." Simons brought out the resolution passed by council in 1939, requesting the board of firemasters to turn the bell over to the park department so it could be placed in the city's museum.

Styron was doubtful about whether he had the authority to send the bell to the scrap heap. 'Who does it belong to?" he asked.

"Customers with sea sand in their hair will be charged extra," reads a new sign at Kowie West,

It's ready and eager to get out helping someone do his part in the war effort you'll be doing your country a patriotic service if you'll put it to work at a really needful job, instead of letting it stand idly by.

War Increases Demands on Fund Member Agencies

War has laid a heavy hand on the member agencies of the Community Fund, increasing the demands for service, and the costs of service, it was pointed out yesterday by Dr.

"We have made a survey of every member agency," he said, "and in almost every case, demands have been greatly increased by wartime conditions.

"Just as every family in the community is affected in wartime, so are the families served by the Family Welfare Society and other agencies. The influx of workers places a heavy obligation on this agency, as Atlanta is becoming more and more a vital war production area.

"The Family Welfare Society is now handling admissions to the Sheltering Arms Day Nurseries, and works with the families of the children. Under the pressures of patriotism and high salaries, many mothers of young children are going to work. This is throwing added burdens on both agen-cies. Careful counselfing is often necessary to prevent family

"The Child Welfare Association has had a 13 per cent increase in requests for service—the largest increase being from unmarried mothers. There has also been an increase in requests for help to adolescent girls who run away to

Japs Stiffen Resistance To Guinea Drive

Australians, However, Push Toward Enemy Base on Coast.

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Thursday, Oct. 15 .- (AP)-Heavier fighting has developed in the Owen Stanley mountains, where Australian troops are engaged in driving toward the north shore of New Guinea, an Allied communique said today.

The increased scale of the action amid the jungle covered peaks north of Myola was accompanied by air attacks in the Wairopi area, behind the Japanese front lines, and against Lae, an enemy shore base on New Guinea some 150 miles northwestward from the scene of the principal fighting.

The latter took place, the comunique said, in the vicinity of Templeton's crossing, marking a rther advance by General Mac-Arthur's troops.

It appeared that the Japanese withdrawal through the gap in the rugged mountain range had brought them close enough to the that they were able to stifen their resistance.

During the first 10 days of the Australian advance up the south-ern slope of the mountains, they met almost no resistance and most of the time were not able to contact the enemy.

ever, last Saturday and again on Tuesday. Since then they have had to fight their way through the jungles and their lengthening supply lines slowed down their advance considerably.

Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50% scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the story-spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike-that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. Kill this talk before it kills our boys!

why they must be kept that way!

- All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full, because they are busy -preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!
- Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest -turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!
- Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it will be needed!

Remember if these places become empty, the mills shut down-and we lose the war!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!

"They are carefully selected, every one of them, from the best physical and mental young manhood of the country. They are clean cut and thoroughly trained."

Training methods now "don't compare" with flight training in World War I, when combat pilots went into battle with as little as 10 to 12 hours flying time," Colonel Ennis declared.

"I want you to understand, though, our pilots and planes in the last war were of the best at that time," he added. "Aviation was just not as advanced 25 years ago as it is now."

The officer, who enlisted in the Air Corps the day after he received a law degree in Chicago in 1918, branded "just plain hooey" claims by war commentators that certain American-made planes were inferior to German or Japanese ships.

"We have all types of bombers, combat and observation planes," he illustrated. "I doubt if anyone would compare a race horse with a plow horse or become tremendously excited because a racing car would not pull as much as a farm tractor.

from the River Don. Inside Stalingrad the Russians consolidated the positions they had won back at the counterattack, and northwest of the city the Red relief forces were reported to have made advances in sharp but local combats. South of the city Russian dispatches related, the attacking Russians seized a basic point in the German line and beat off counterattacks.

Russian lines across the north oothills of the Caucasus from the Mozdok area to the Black sea were containing the German attacks and, in key places, the Soviets were striking back.

Nazis Pinched Off. The noon communique, dealing with the Black sea area southeast of Novorossisk, said an enemy force which had penetrated into the rear of a Russian unit had been cut off from its main force by counterattack, with 400 Ger nans killed and considerable ma terial captured.

Marine raiders landed from the sea by motor launch destroyed a German cavalry force, blew up an ammunition dump, destroyed a radio station and captured staff documents in a populated place in this area. They "returned to their base without losses," the communique said.

(The German high command claimed that one Ger-man division operating be-tween Maikop and Tuapse in the Black sea coastal area had captured 100 fortified mountain strong points. ### Georgia Coal Deposit Might Be Unearthed

Mining Seen If Shortage Continues, Zack Cravey Says.

A coal deposit in northwest Georgia estimated at 40,000,000 tons may have to be mined this winter if the fuel shortage re-mains acute, Zach Cravey, direc-tor of the state department of natural resources, said at a meeting of the state planning board yesterday.
Charles G. Duncan, director of the milk control board, warned that the state faces milk rationing within 30 days unless the farmer producer gets relief from rising production costs.

Duncan urged help from the OPA, pointing out that the government has subsidized farmers in other states.

A state-wide survey is under way to determine if higher in-come groups are taking advantage of the war effort to abuse low cost housing privileges, according to Basil Stockbridge, acting director of the board, which has taken over the housing authority administration.

Robert Strickland, director of the state agricultural council, said plans have been submitted to the WPB for the establishment of six dehydration plants in Georgia. He explained that five of the proposed plants would be converted from old food processing plants.

'Gargantua the Great' Shuns Untiring Affection of 'Bride'

By FRANK DRAKE.

By FRANK DRAKE.

What would you think of a romance in which the hero's most eloquent gesture of deep affection has been to toss a few old used orange and banana peels into the face of the heroine?

This latter would worry a man of lesser mental activity than Braden, but since he confides he does not inhale the smoke anyway, it doesn't matter.

ELECTRIC FENCES.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 14.—Fencing with electricity costs only 15 to 25 cents per month and requires only one strand of barbed wire, the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service declares.

Braden is the man who goes around hacking the advance trails for John Ringling North and his congregation of elephants, 300 women, aerialists, clowns, spectacles by the dozen and, last but not least, the aforementioned hero and heroine, Gargantua the Great, and Toto the Greatess.

These latter two are having the world today, and Atlantans can see them as stars of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Highland avenue show grounds, but—they are still a problem to Braden.

Last year when the two were here they'd just been married down at Sarasota, Fla. Then Gargantua was spending hours looking at Toto with his big gorilla heart in his eyes. Braden was pretty happy about it. Last year, it looked like "Gargy," as Braden playfully calls this 550 pounds of killer, was all set to make a good and faithful husband to Toto.

"Gargy" Turns Back.

Alas and alack. It hasn't turned out that way. This year, it's Toto

"Gargy" Turns Back.
Alas and alack. It hasn't turned out that way. This year, it's Toto beaming love at Gargantua, her 438 pounds of flesh aquiver. And, what does Gargantua do?

Does he beam love right back through those heavy steel bars of his cage, right on through the heavy steel bars of Toto's cage, right on into Toto's slightly murderous eyes? Braden sighs the sigh of a righteous man taken advan-tage of unjustly. No, "Gargy" doesn't, He just throws orange and banana peels at dear little Toto. And turns his massive back It is enough to break the heart of any romantically-inclined publicity agent.

Mighty Fine Acts.

Still, Braden mutters, the circus has some mighty fine acts this year. Nothing more spectacular than the mighty spectacle of "Holidays," with hundreds in dashing, colorful costume, moving in majestic splendor through carefully planned and executed precision maneuvers, showing you, ladies and gentlemen, all the drama, all the humor, all the picturesqueness, of New Year's Day, St. Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day, Easter, Fourth of July, Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. That world famous clown, Felix Adler, will be Santa Claus in "Holidays," that spectacle which Braden says surpasses even Ringling's Mother Goose spectacle of a few years

And so, Braden rattles on. Eight other spectacles, a girl who stands on her head on a swinging trapese bar 40 feet above the bare ground

Peggy Dunham Acts as Guide In Adirondack Mountains

• • AT LEAST ONE of the season's debutantes, Peggy Dunham, is as much at home in the great out-of-doors as she is on the ballroom floor, for she spent the entire past summer climbing the Adirondacks! And during that time, believe it or not, she covered 185 miles and served as guide to 585 people who knew next to nothing about mountain climbing.

You see, Peggy lives in Miami Beach, Fla., where the thermometer goes skyward in the summer, so she and her family have been accustomed to moving north for the hot months. In fact, they have spent the past six or seven summers in Keene Valley, near Lake Placid in upper New York state. Near by at St. Hubert's is the fashionable Ausauble Club, which is responsible for her moun-

As a lovely farewell tribute and as evidence of the affection

It seems that one of the most popular forms of entertainment with the devotees of the Ausauble Club is overnight camping trips. So Peggy was engaged, not only to conduct, but to arrange for the comfort of the guests on these trips. Which meant that she and her assistant would start out early in the morning with 25 or more in the party. Each guest, of course, carried his own pack, which in-cluded his blankets and most of his food for the trip. The club maintains camps along the favorite routes of the mountain climbers, and the party always made for one of these before nightfall. There they slept on beds of fragrant, freshly-cut balsom, which were covered with blankets and usually arranged under a lean-to. The camp was always near a spring or some sparkling mountain stream, and there was usu-ally a grill on which to pre-pare the meals for hearty ap-

The cooking of the meals was about the only thing that ever "stumped" Peggy, for she knew little or nothing about such things. She recalls with amusement her fright at having had to cook pancakes for 25 mountain climbers one morning early in her hostess experience. The thermometer was down around 30, which only served to whet appeties, and she had never made a pancake in all her life. In addition, the party rose VERY EARLY and VERY, VERY HUNGRY. So there was only one thing to do—and Peggy evidently accomplished it with great success, for her camping trips continued to grow in popularity, and there was always a cry for pancakes among her guests.

The camps kept big log fires burning all night. Steaks, chops, pancakes, soup and coffee were among the favorite items on the menus, and, of course, there were the ubiquitous bacon and

• • • THE FORMAL opening of the new Service Conley yesterday served also as the introduction to the post of the charming new senior host-ess, Mrs. Bert Carmichael. The opening was held at 5 o'clock, and was followed by a dance in the evening which achieved ad-ditional interest and gaiety under the capable management of Mrs. Carmichael.

The role of hostess is not new to her, for she served most successfully in a similar capacity at Fort Jackson, S. ### The Edge Off Your Appetite

The tang in the air puts a sharp edge on your appetite, particular-ly if you are trying to lose weight. You're hungry. So now is the time to use all the tricks that will help outwit the appetite without boosting the calories. Include in every meal some

In Hollywood, it's the style to serve salad first. That's a good plan for the reducer or it helps to take the edge off a ravenous appetite. Try it. Have a celery salad first. Then have a cup of on either side of the space. They are not "sacrificed," but on the few calories Then with the main dish and vegetables, and fruit for dessert, you will feel well fed.

When you take a hot soup or a beverage, do not take any water. Water isn't attening, but you can't have a svelte figure if you gulp down a couple of glasses of water in addition to a beverage. A good slimming rule is not to take over eight ounces of liquid with the meal. Drink all the water you want between meals. Another trick you might like to borrow from the actresses is to drink milk between meals. Actresses have to keep streamlined, but they must keep up their strength, so they take a pint of skim milk or buttermilk between meals, so as to cut down the mealtime liquids. You need milk. If you take it skimmed, then have green leafy vegetable, both cooked and raw, to replace the vitamin A lost in the butter fat,

To a Student

NEW YORK CITY, Tuesday.—I received a letter written by an older woman to a young friend, a student studying philosophy who has entered the armed forces. It so well expresses what many of us would like to say to young people today, but have not said so well, that I am giving an essential to the said so well that I am giving an essential to the said so well that I am giving an essential to the said so well that I am giving an essential to the said so well that I am giving an essential to the said so well that I am giving an essential to the said so well the said so well that I am giving an essential that tial part of it to you here:

"I want ot be one of the first of your friends to write to you. I am one of the citizens of this world who really believe in the debt all of us owe to our young men who have gone into the service of democracy. These two words when linked have a great meaning. As dreadful as this war is, this war does link those words, service and democracy, and in so doing creates a service of such grandeur that we who recognize it, cannot be overwhelmed with the sorrow which war usually evokes.

"I know that the period before this war was one of bafflement for most of our young men. It was a era of great material development, in which was not included any way for the development of the spiritual needs of humanity. Those of our youth who were highly intellectual, among whom I count you, worked out a philosophy for themselves as best they could with the help of the

But I do not believe these satisfied the younger philosophers, for somehow the machine age, in its harsh cold splendor, was not serving humanity (as we now know, but it was leading it to war), and youth felt this and could not be satisfied. The machine was too big—too hideously unwieldy—no minority could handle it, to turn it into humanitarian paths. So, there was no way to serve, no way to be served by it. "But to use it to save democracy—that is a vast service, pr vided we can see (as we do when we look at it thoughtfully) that automatically democracy will be increased enormously all over the world as a result of this vast struggle in its name. In its name—we must not forget this propaganda value. A more enlightened democracy, with modern machines in its service, is something we can believe in as the inevitable aftermath of this most terrible of all wars.

"So you see, we who stay at home and think of it feel an increasing gratitude toward the legions of our warriors in this war of such far-reaching emancipation. It is this gratitude which I want to make real to you—for it is a wider, deeper thing than my life-long affection for this beautiful little boy who walked at my side through the green paths of Hampstead Heath in England, and who later tugged so valiantly as a college youth to establish a socialpolitical group to study and plan a way to meet the problems he saw ahead—(those problems which no man nor small group could solve, and which have landed the world in war).

"There are still cynical people—selfish, thoughtless, even maligmany lessons, and one of these lessons will be that they had no right to ask the youth of this world to fight, to offer life itself, for anything less than a world emancipated from their selfishness,

An Urgent Call

In these troubled days when the scourge of war brings down its blight upon the earth, each one of us is called upon for some measure of service or sacrifice.

A particularly urgent call is now being sounded to the women of Atlanta and vicinity. It is a call for nursing service among our civilian population, in the local hospitals and perhaps in the war industry plants.

The shortage of nurses and physicians is extremely acute, due to the ever-increasing demands of the armed services both here and on foreign shores. It must be realized also that hand in hand with this progressive depletion, there is a constant and growing influx of civilian population in connection with the war efforts being concentrated in this metropolitan community. This concentration will obviously result in the additional nazard of the spread of infectious and communicable diseases.

Unhappily, it is no remote consideration, in these days of modern warfare, that death and destruction may be rained down upon our city from the skies. We must be prepared for these and other foreboding eventualities. This demands the contribution of our women to the nursing services-to the vital role of aiding the dwindling ranks of doctors in caring for our sick and afflicted. It is a role that has traditionally filled the hearts and souls of women down through the ages.

A course of home nursing service has been established under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross. Here is given practical instruction in nursing aid in the home. It is important to realize this valuable training will not only prepare a woman for her part in this existing emergency; but will equip her for rendering real and timely aid in her own family group in the years that lie ahead.

Women of Atlanta must respond to this appeal and to their Red Cross and enlist for this splendid and vital service. The community, the nation-humanity is calling. Let us march forward with a progressive America-an America of service, and if needs be, an America of

First public activity of the recently created Atlanta branch of the Foreign Policy Association will take place today. At a luncheon meeting at the Atlanta Athletic Club Senor Ernesto Montenegro, Latin-American journalist and author, will discuss "Exploitation or Collaboration in Inter-American Affairs." The

The Foreign Policy Association was organized at the end of the first World War in order to inform American public opinion on world affairs and to fill the need for an independent, objective source of information of this type.

Atlanta was the 19th branch to be organized, and the first in the south. The local branch was completed last spring and has now a membership of 70. Today's meeting is the first of a series of programs to be offered this fall

In addition to the programs presented by the local branches, the association reaches a much larger audience through its publications and weekly radio programs.

It publishes the "Headline Books" which give popular but authoritative treatment of international topics of current importance. The value of these publications is such the United States War Department ordered 150,000 specially printed for use in educational work in Army camps, last year. In addition to these handbooks, the association issues regular world affairs pamphlets and foreign policy reports.

The head of the Atlanta branch is Albert Staton. Its activities should better prepare our citizens for the responsibilities which will devolve upon all of us in the making of a better world after the war is won.

When the balances between nations are totalled up at the end of this war, the spirit of good will and amity among free men will be put to a terrible test; for the debits against the German people grow larger with every passing day-written in the blood of murdered men, women and children. Norwegians are being shot for no other reason than they are Norwegians. Dutchmen have been hanged because they were Dutch, and nothing more. Frenchmen have been put to death by the thousands, and Poles and Czechs and Jugo-Slavs by the tens of thousands for defending themselves against those who came to kill, pillage, rape and rob. Greeks have been starved to make the Germans fat, and Russians have seen their women and children tortured, their villages and fields and sacred shrines laid waste and ground beneath

What credits can the German people hope to claim when Nazism falls and the day of reckoning comes? What force do they expect to rely upon to withstand the spirit of vengeance that will burst upon them when their military defenses go down?-as they surely will. What appeasement will they have to offer-what gifts to give, when their despoiled neighbors and vengeful allies-gaunt, lean, bloody and terrible—set upon them?

The answer surely is-none, and no nation should know this better than the German people themselves. They have been warned by their chosen leader, Adolf Hitler, of the approaching storm. They have had it from many sources. Now, the warning comes from Russia-made more terrible by the coming of winter-"they will pay a life for a life."

Perhaps there is yet time to rid themselves of the gangsters who entered the records in blood against them in every land in Europe. Will they do it while the spirit of good will and amity among men is yet alive, or wait until the fearful cry—"A life for a life, an eye for an eye"-leaps into a terrifying, uncontrolled, devasting whirlwind and sweeps them, as a nation, from the face of the earth?

Home Mobilization

A recent proposal of the Regional Office of Civilian Defense to bring every southeastern householder more fully and conscientiously into the war effort is a great move toward awakening those few who still fail to realize there's a war going on.

Known as the "block plan," the proposal would urge just what the name impliesmobiliation of block, zone and community to meet such problems as encouraging share-yourcar clubs, spurring war bond sales and scrap

It's immediate adoption is vital to a successful prosecution of the war. It would throw a spotlight on scattered homes not doing their part in the all-out home front scrap. It would, through block and zone leaders, keep a closer pulse on exact accomplishments and failures of certain sections and provide the necessary information for attaining greater goals.

"Increasing dimentions of the job to be done by the local defense councils necessitate that utmost importance be attached to the plan. says Regional Civilian Mobilization Director Sollace Mitchell.

Georgia Editors Say:

"INVISIBLE GREENBACKS" (From The Vidalia Advance.) Many an American may wonder why the gov-ernment doesn't finance the war almost entirely by borrowing from the banks. All that would be needed is for the Treasury to make arrangements through the Federal Reserve System for the banks to buy all the notes and securities the government issued.

The truth is, of course, that this kind of financing would be the surest road to inflation and to a national fiscal debacle which would be as ruinous as military defeat in the war. For, as Harry Scherman recently wrote in a Saturday Evening Post article, "The catastrophic German inflation of the twenties had its beginning in just such government-borrowing-from-banks.

The reason for this is that when the banks buy government bonds, they create new bank deposits. That, in turn, creates what Mr. Scherman terms "invisible greenbacks." The total money supply is rapidly increased, precisely as if the printing presses were turned loose to grind out bills. And when that happens, the volume of purchasing power runs ever farther ahead of the goods available, and a disastrous inflation becomes inevitable.

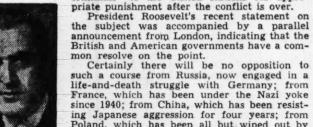

The banks are doing a big job in this war. They will continue to do a big job in a thousand important financial fields. But, if we are to preserve our economic system and the integrity of our currency, the great bulk must be paid for by all the people. They must be paid for, in part, by taxes. In addition, they must be paid for by the heaviest possible individual investment in government bonds. That is why the Treasury is attempting to vastly increase bond purchasing-and that is why economists of all schools are supporting the Treasury policy. To quote Mr. Scherman once more, "Cold arithmetic leads to the simple sober ultimate truth: that only our personal savings can now save our civilization." No one, in short, can do the paying for us. This is all the people's war.

If the policing of Germany were left to the Poles, the Czechs, or the Greeks after the war, the world would witness a slaughter the like of which has never been seen before. It is difficult to realize the deep hatred that has been built up against the Germans by these peoples, who have had their countries destroyed by the Nazi Undoubtedly the French will be of the same bloodthirsty frame of mind when they are finally released from the toils of Nazi occupation. So many crimes have been committed by the Nazis against the peace of nations that nothing short of a complete blood purge will satisfy the offended peoples.

HITLER KNOWS IT Hitler and his associates now realize this only too well and have converted it into an effective propaganda instrument for driving the Germans on to a last-ditch struggle. In effect, they are telling the people that the loss of the war means the final destruction of Germany

President Roosevelt's declaration on the "war criminals" was designed to offset this propaganda, as well as to assure the enslaved people of Europe that proper punishment will be meted out to those who are responsible for their present plight.

Goebbels, the Mussolinis and the Tojos, and those of their co-horts who have had a direct hand in the blood-letting and crimes that have been committed against civilization. TO GIVE 'EM TRIALS We propose to bring them to trial as the arch criminals of this era. It is inconceivable that any one of them should escape with his neck.

The scene for that series of trials promises to be the most dramatic setting of the post-war period. One by one, the representatives of the various countries which have been victimized by Axis aggression will be called to give testimony. There can be only one verdict.

As against the position of their leaders, the German people have been told by the President and the British government that they can expect decent treatment when peace comes. Some of the United Nations may be less charitably disposed toward their enemies

The fact that we and the British are willing to proclaim such a policy should, therefore, have a reassuring effect. It may open the way for a throwing off of the Nazi yoke by the Germans themselves sooner than might come otherwise.

PUT ON NOTICE Another effect of the Roosevelt-British the attitude of some of the Nazi leaders in their dealings with the conquered people. They are now served notice that they will be held personally accountable for the crimes committed under their authority. The decision to call the war criminals to the bar of justice recalls a similar effort that came after the last World War. Mr. Lloyd-George, the British Prime Minister, won a post-war election on the slogan, "Hang the Kaiser."

Nothing came of the matter, however. It was soon forgotten in the moves for restoration of peace. This time it is unlikely that world statesmen will be so soft. Two world wars in a generation have been too much. Our leaders here and in Britain are determined that the guilty shall be brought to justice, just as any comthe state. Anything less would be a travesty.

NEW YORK, Slapped Oct. 14. - Poor Down Again old Thurman Arnold has been slapped down again in his pathetic effort to bring the New Deal party's corrupt and anti-public political subsidiary, the union racket, under some degree of governmental control under existing laws. This happened in Chicago where Judge John P. Barnes, of the United States district court, threw out Thurman's case against Jimmy Petrillo and the American Federation of Musicians under the precedent of the so-called carpenters' case in which Justice Frankfurter, in the majority opinion, held that union could do just about anything for its own interest in a labor dispute.

But up in Syracuse Thurman won a decision which might result in the jailing of nobody knows how many dirty parasites who for years have been extorting money all over the place from workers on overnment projects. The decision in the Petrillo case was just what you might have expected. In fact, these dispatches said on August 3 any against Petrillo and his union would fail "because he is fully protected by the laws, the policies and the decisions of the New Deal." Jimmy had forbidden his subjects to make recordings for use on the radio and in juke boxes and Elmer Davis and Mr. Fly, of the Federal Communications Co mission, took on something awful

In the Syracuse case Tom Clark one of Thurman's assistants, got indictments against four low-grade New Deal union racketeers of the outfit conducted by William Maloney, of Chicago, and Joe Fay, the dangerous thug who runs w the Frank Hague chapter of the New Deal party in New Jersey, and known as the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The defendants seem to have rossed up Thurman and Clark, however, by pleading guilty whereupon they were fined $10,000 each, which, of course, is just peanuts to men in these rackets. Sweden has remained neutral.

This has been because Germany did not want Sweden brought into it early. There was good reason for that. The Scandinavian fears were mixed. Both Finland and Sweden feared Russia more than Germany. But it will be costly. It will give him a much longer coast to guard. So, he has stayed his hand. Whether he will stay it remains

THE REASON WHY The newspapers of Sweden keep on publishing news. They also send it out.

If the best-known and most fearless newspapermen of Sweden get back safely and write of what they have seen, the news will get into Germany.

It is 20 minutes by ferry boat from one point in Sweden to one of Denmark's chief cities, Elsinore. (Hamlet's castle.) It is but an hour's ride by swift boat from Denmark to Germany.

News leaps points like that. Once these stories are written the Germans will know of them They will know the might of this nation is not yet gathered. They will know our production is not at its peak. It will add to what may become a winter of discontent in

I sat at luncheon next to Alfred Oste, the foreign editor of th Svenska Dagbladet. It was his newspaper which published this comment after Hitler's recent speech:

"In 1940 Germany said, 'We have won the war.' "In 1941 Germany said, 'We will win the war.'
"In 1942 Germany said, 'We must win the war.'

they said, shouting at him.

I got a very real thrill, too, out of his story of how the mighty representatives of Germany went, in Berlin, to the Swedish am-"Make your newspapers quit publishing reports out of Norway."

"I can't, gentlemen," he said. "I have no power on earth to make them quit. Our constitution gives them the right to print news and opinion. I will say to them you wish them to quit. But they will not pay any attention."

Imagine it—a country with just 6,000,000 persons in it and with an army of only 650,000—daring to stand up for its constitutional rights. Those writers know, too, that, should Germany come, they will be arrested and, in all probability, killed. They go on. I always have been proud of being a newspaper-man. I felt prouder after talking with these men.

ESCAPE INTO SWEDEN Norwegians, 20 or 30 every night, come across the border into Sweden. Most of them go on to England, by plane or boat.

Oste told of one group which walked 30 miles over the mount tains, in deep snows and in temperatures well below zero. The oldest was 80, the youngest 5. They came from Norway. "There isn't much food," he said. "There isn't any coffee. ### To Win the Respect of Boys. Try Being Respectable

You will remember Tony, the Polish youth made famous by his month-long journey on the Pacific with two shipmates in a tiny rubber boat. One incident of his career, revealed in "The Raft," contains a lesson for every adult who deals with boys. Tony's parents were devout, and he had been raised in the faith, but one evening as he stood on a street corner talking with two of his young friends, a priest passed by and Tony scarcely noticed him. Perhaps it was ill-mannered. In any case, Tony told it this way. "I don't pay much attention, and then he goes and talks about me because I don't tip my cap to him. Made me sore." So he had turned against religion.

The one outstanding characteristic of boys in their teens is their sense of personal dignity. They must be handled tactfully, for never again will they be so sensitive. They are eager to enter the realm of men. If devil-may-care toughs offer them equality and comradeship, while the respectable offer them only unfriendly reproof or scorn or indifference, which It is at this age that they "go wrong." They may be attracted by the excitement of evil, but as frequently they are repelled by righteousness. They form life-long prejudices.

Any effort to make them respect religion is like the old-fashioned Any effort to make them respect religion is like the old-fashioned father's saying: "I'll make you respect me if I have to cut your hide off." You can teach fear that way, or hate, but not respect.

The only way to make a teen-age boy respect anything is to make it seem respectable to him. He is an idealist and perfectionist, and his judgments are not tolerant, but they are usually just and keenly discerning. He can detect hypocrisy and fraud and stuffed-shirt pretense and empty form at a glance, and his scorr for them is deep and lasting.

The one sure way to make boys admire and accept what is good

Doubt has been expressed as to the efficacy of a fancy dress sword in actual combat. I can testify it is terrific, in an attack from the rear. The flat side of a silver-plated, gold-hilted sword is ten times as efficient as a razor strap.

Stop.. Think Twice Before Making a LONG DISTANCE CALL!

In America's race against time, war industries and the armed forces are using the long distance telephone as never before calls by the thousands every day.

But thousands of civilian messages calls not related to winning the war-are placing an additional burden on long distance lines-consuming priceless telephone time. War calls that must go through quickly are threatened with delay.

To help keep lines clear for vital war communications - to give war industries and the military forces the telephone time they must have — America is depending on every long distance telephone user to voluntarily sacrifice his unnecessary calls.

There is urgent need now for a special effort to avoid making "long haul" calls. The greater the distance you talk the greater the possibility of delaying vital war calls, because the "long haul" lines are the most heavily crowded with the nation's essential war business.

Long Distance lines to these cities are exceptionally crowded with war calls, so make only necessary calls to these points or to places in these general localities.

Dentists Here To Open School On First Aid

Will Hold Series of Courses on Tuesday, Thursday Nights.

Atlanta dentists will start to first aid school next week to prepare themselves for work beside the medical officer in field casual ty stations and air raid posts in the event of actual bombings, members of the Atlanta Dental Society announced yesterday.

Indorsing a dental civilian defense program by unanimous vote, members of the society have organized a series of first aid courses to be held Tuesday and Thursday nights in the Fulton Medical Academy. The first of the series to be held from 8 to 10 o'clock both nights, will begin next Tuesday.

According to the plan advocated by Dr. Marion Pruitt, chief of emergency medical services for the Atlanta metropolitan area, dentists would be assigned in the following units: medical control center, chief of emergency medi-cal services, base hospital, clear-ance hospital and Red Cross first aid post and air raid training.
The program recommends the Ace Receiver Until McDonald came along, Lefty Haynes, now Green Wave line coach, topped all Tulane men in catching passes. He snagged 26 in 1931, Tulane's Rose Bowl year.

Last year, in tough competition, McDonald was on the receiving end of 27 passes. Bubber Eli is another fine Tulane back. O. J.

A sophomore, Olton Hebert-pronounced Ayebear-and Junior Al Stolen are doing a fine job. Because sophomores have come through so well Tulane was able to stop favored Rice.

But he wasn't discouraged. He added, "We have a good team and will win some games.'

Tulane was next on Auburn's schedule. And on the same Saturday Tech beat Auburn, Tulane knocked off Southern California in the Coliseum at Los Angeles.

Few thought Auburn could beat Tulane after that. But Auburn won, 27 to 13, and behind the triumph lies a story of reprisal.

Tulane shifted into a five-man line as the game got under way. Auburn's bench was a scene of great joy. Players stood up and cheered. All week long, following the Tech defeat, Auburn had drilled against a five-man line. Tulane scouts undoubtedly had reported Tech's success in using it against the Plainsmen, but it backfired because Auburn was all set for just such an eventuality.

It was a close game, 14 to 13 in Auburn's favor, until Wave player took too many liberties behind his own goal line and had a kick partially blocked. Auburn quickly clinched the game then.

2-Ton 'Block Busters' Leave U-Boat Nest in Flames.

LONDON, Oct. 14 .- (AP)-Some hundreds of bombers, including many of Britain's biggest dynamite carriers, gave the German naval and submarine base of Kiel one of its most destructive blastings of the war last night, it was an-

Among the bombers were the huge four-motored Lancasters, Stirlings and Halifaxes which are capable of toting approximately eight tons of bombs over the 800 mile round-trip distance to Kiel. The fact that only nine bomb-ers were lost, by British count, was taken to mean that the "saturation" technique was used to crowd so many planes over the area in a short raid that the strong defenses of that vital naval base 2:30 Love and Learn (C) were swamped.

The bombers had perfect weather to get a good sight on their targets, and the British declared that the results fully justified the loss of nine planes out of a lorce which the Evening News estimated "several hundred."

The attack was a logical followp. to the RAF campaign against submarine yards and Flensburg, to the north, nother submarine base, has been mbed repeatedly of late.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.-(A)-Most stock market leaders suffered a minor setback today after the last week's fast forward run, but a group of specialties took the ball near the close and pushed into substantially higher territory. A few of the pivotals slipped off point or so after a steady start and American Telephone dropped 2. While these moves inspired some general selling the market throughout had resistant spots, notably the steels, aircrafts and oils. Transactions were well under the previous day's.

The bond market was hesitant n choosing a course today, resulting in a general mixture of small gains and losses near the final nour. A few rails and specialties stood out on the upside.

Curb losers included Aluminum of America, American Cyanamid, International Petroleum, Electric Bond & Share and Penn-Central Air Lines. Fractionally higher were Gulf Oil, Lake Shore Mines and Northern State Power "A."
